Owl's lack of aerobatic ability causes Meg to send him off to school where he receives lessons in 'swooping and pouncing', night flying, hovering, diving and even swimming. All in all, school is a great success - Owl wins an event on sport's day and makes lots of new friends and Meg makes herself a new hat. Lots of fun for young (and not-so-young) readers and listeners: the trio has lost none of its magic.
