Rebecca Mason's transfer from the local comprehensive to the famous boarding school by the sea is plausible enough: Mr Mason has a job in Saudi Arabia and school fees go with it. After that it's pure School Friend: loyalty and undying friendship with 'the Six', misunderstandings, intrigue and deception from other girls with despicable motives, hockey, the school magazine, the music scholarship, charity week, the temporary Maths master with a passion for surfing and something to hide. Absolutely nothing to do with the day-to-day experiences of your average second-year. Nevertheless one of them read all four in one day, looked around for more and went off to recommend them to her friends.
