When you're starting a new school it's hard making friends and getting used to the teacher without a ghostly Green Finger getting you into trouble too. But Dom manages to muster stamina enough finally to reveal the true identity of the Green Finger, gain real insight into the school's past and receive much appreciated praise for a Victorian edict written in true Victorian hand. Not an original idea, but nonetheless entertaining, it motivates finding out about school in days gone by and fits in well with History topics at KS2.
